

Hey Megan,

For my definitional text project, the things I want to focus on revising/improving are:

- Some of the small details of the medium which include:
  - Adding vigilante to the end of the poem in different fonts
  - Adding an ellipsis at the end of the poem
- The equation-like aspect of my poem, making it clearer, especially by replacing “equal(s)” with an actual equal sign (=)
- My cover letter, emphasizing the importance of each word in the poem and what they imply or show for the reader
- Identifying a reader/audience even if it is not a specific group of people and also focus on what readers have in common

I believe if I fix all of the issues above, my definitional text will be much stronger and deliver a more concise message.

Sincerely,
Bryan Quinonez
