

Hello Megan,

After reviewing the notes my partner made on my essay I have realized that the main idea I wanted to express was not made very clear as my partner took my essay from a different direction than intended. Also, I have a lot of quotes and some sources that are not sufficiently credible. And so, my plan moving forward is to revise my paper's structure to present crucial information earlier, so the reader can get a better idea of my thought process, as well as search for more in-depth and credible sources to use.

Thank you for everything so far and I look forward to showing you my revised paper.

Sincerely,
Bryan Quinonez